2 CONFESS CHARLESTOWN MURDER

Two Charlestown men confessed today to the brutal murder of Mrs. Alice Degnan Sheridan, whose nude and battered body was found wedged in a fence in the rear of a house in Edgeworth st., Charlestown, two weeks ago.

The two men, who signed confessions at the Charlestown station following long grilling by Capt. Louis DiSessa, are Samuel W. Gilmore, 33, of Ferrin st., Charlestown, and John L. "Limey" Wilson, 27, of Edgeworth st.

Allies Capture Cassino Hills

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 17 (AP)—Fifth Army forces have now fought their way through bomb-demolished Cassino to its southwestern outskirts and have captured several prominent heights overlooking the ruined town, Allied headquarters announced today.

3 Drives Give Japs Jitters

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLTZ
Associated Press War Editor

Three smashing Allied offensives—an airborne landing behind Jap lines in northern Burma, the first land-based bomber raid on Truk and the invasion of Manus island in the Bismarck sea—gave Japan reason for the jitters today.

For the first reported time in the Burma war, Allied airborne troops landed behind crumbling Jap defenses in the Hukwang valley. Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's forces seek to clear a supply route through northern Burma to China.

BASED ON MARSHALLS

Truk, Japan's mightiest base in the Caroline islands, is marked for continued air assault after land-based Seventh Air Force Liberators without loss Wednesday night blasted airbases, supply and munition dumps and naval installations.

Nearest and most logical American base from which bombers took off is Eniwetok atoll in the western Marshall Islands. Truk was bombed Feb. 16 and 17 by carrier-based planes.

In the Southwest Pacific, where Gen. MacArthur celebrated his second anniversary as supreme Allied commander, American troops swept ashore on Manus Island, largest in the Admiralty group, Wednesday, and by nightfall were within a half mile of Lorengau airbase.

The battle-tested Americans suffered only minor casualties in landing, but met strong prepared defenses.

RABAU ROCKED AGAIN

The invasion was sprung from adjacent Los Negros Island, invaded by MacArthur forces Feb. 29.

Rabaul, New Britain, shook under a 173-ton aerial pounding, the 16th raid there this month, and Wewak, New Guinea, pounded heavily during four days, was blasted again with a 140-ton assault, its 11th March raid.

Fliers supporting bitter ground fighting at Empress Augusta Bay, Bougainville, blanketed Jap positions with a 145-ton bombing and headquarters reported all enemy attacks to break through the northern end of the Bougainville lines repulsed.

In addition to the history-making Truk raid, central Pacific fliers carried out strikes on Oroluk and Ponape, Carolines, and on two designated atolls in the Marshalls.

Reds Given Finn Reply on Peace

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, March 17 (AP)—Finland's reply to Russian armistice terms was delivered to the Russian legation in Stockholm today and a Finnish diplomatic source told the Associated Press "I do not have much hope for peace."

The reply presumably was handed to Mme. Alexandra Kolontay, the 75-year-old Russian minister, for transmission to Moscow. The deadline for the Finnish answer to Russia's final proposals is Saturday.

The action followed closely a last minute appeal from President Roosevelt to Finland to "withdraw from this hateful partnership" with Germany. King Gustav of Sweden earlier had urged Marshal Baron Carl Mannerheim and other high Finnish government figures to accept the Russian conditions.

It is understood Finland will announce the contents of its note tomorrow after receiving assurances that the reply has reached Moscow. The Finnish Parliament was reliably reported to have rejected the terms in secret session Wednesday. Russian insistence upon internment of seven German divisions, with Red army help if needed, was said to have been the chief stumbling block. Helsinki dispatches told of hasty measures to preserve church archives and bank records in anticipation of renewed Russian air assaults.

Germans Begin Retreat Across Bessarabia Line

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—Reuters' news service said today Marshal Konev's Second Ukrainian Army had reached the Dniester river "at several points" and German forces already have begun a retreat into Bessarabia at Mogilev-Podolski.

This would mean that Russian forces have reached the old Rumanian frontier and now stand within 50 miles of the Prut river, which Moscow considers the present Rumanian border.

Germans Can't Hold Red Thrust for Odessa

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, March 17 (AP)—The German appeared today unable to hold the mounting Red army drives on Odessa and Nikolae, and Nazi troops seeking escape by rail and sea have tied up miles on communications in the mud of the Ukraine.

Russian units are about 70 miles northeast of Odessa, big Black sea port, and are drawn up in a semi-circle around Nikolae and are already battering at its defenses.

Northwest of Odessa and Nikolae, the Russians are rapidly expanding their hold on the Odessa-Lwow trunk rail line, main north-south communications route for Marshal von Manstein's German armies in lower Russia.

The battle for more of this railway has produced the fiercest fighting on the Ukraine front, but only in the Proskurov sector—where the Nazis are trying to protect the railway leading west toward Czechoslovakia—were the Germans able to hold the Red tide.

The most important stretch of the Odessa-Lwow line, from the Germans' point of view, is that section running from Odessa to Slobodzya, off which run two escape railways westward into Bessarabia. The Nazis are in grave danger of losing the northernmost, for Konev's cavalry, light tanks and infantry are advancing on that junction.

The Nazis are relying on the Tiraspol escape railway, for this is closest to Odessa and much better for large-scale evacuation which is inevitable because of the hopeless position of the Germans at Odessa and Nikolae.

800 Nazi Casualties In Wreck Near Rome

NAPLES, March 17 (AP)—Papers found on a German prisoner-of-war disclosed that a train wreck 100 miles north of Rome recently caused 800 German casualties. Allied headquarters said today. The wreck was believed the work of Italian saboteurs.

YANK RAIDERS DOWN 125 NAZI PLANES

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—The American Air Force chopped another big segment out of Hitler's defensive air force, shooting down 125 enemy planes, including black-painted night fighters sent up to ward off a heavy daylight onslaught on Ulm and Friedrichshafen in southern Germany yesterday.

Indicating a possible two-way daylight aerial strike against Germany, the German raid said American bombers were flying over the Alps into Germany territory at noon today—apparently from Italy.

At the same time coastal observers in Britain reported leadstreams of daylight raiders heading toward the continent.

The smash at southern German targets was followed last night by small but heavily freighted bombardment fleets of the RAF which struck again at German transport in France, pounding the Michelin tire factory at Clermont-Ferrand, 30 miles southwest of Vichy, and the rail yards at Amiens, both master cogs in Hitler's anti-invasion machinery.

Foreign Office spokesmen today said the Finnish government "has to give serious consideration" to President Roosevelt's statement urging Finland to withdraw from her "hateful partnership" with Germany. "We regret it wasn't made three days earlier," informed political figures said, in obvious reference to the fact that the Finnish Parliament had reached a decision.

The section of the press opposed to the government displayed President Roosevelt's statement prominently. Newspapers supporting the government tucked it away inside.

Cloudy Skies Fail to Drench Mar. 17 Spirit

Traditional March 17th dark skies and raw winds ran true to form today but did not deter thousands of men, women and children today as they flocked to South Boston for the gala double celebration of the anniversary of St. Patrick and the ousting of the Red Coats from Boston 168 years ago.

Many a celebrator declared that by now he was used to the gloomy skies and cold showers—this has been the weather bill of fare for the past 10 years.

Throughout Greater Boston this morning there was much wearing of the green, but in South Boston streets and homes the festive holiday mood was especially felt. The darkness of the weather was offset by the frequently seen stars and stripes and green shamrocks galore, while everyone's lips bore a greeting in the name of good St. Patrick.

VICTORY RECALLED

Ceremonies staged on Dorchester Heights through the forenoon recalled the victory of New England patriots' cannon over the troops of George III, which were forced to evacuate the city to save being captured by Gen. George Washington.

Prominent residents held open house during the day, and many reunions of friends and families took place, prior to the big March 17 parade scheduled for 2 p. m.

It was only natural for much of the talk to center on Eire's plight, and in many parts of the peninsula district could be heard praise of Sen. David I. Walsh for his stand on the side of the "old country's" neutrality.

DEFENDS NEUTRALITY

The Bay State's senior Senator, in his address at the annual "Night Before" banquet of the South Boston Citizens' Ass'n at the Hotel Vendome, declared that Americans of Irish blood ask no more than the justice that is extended to other neutral nations, in the treatment of Eire by the United States.

Unless the neutrality of small nations is respected, Sen. Walsh said, there will be no neutrals in other wars and all small nations will be forced into conflict by the larger nations.

JOHN F. WALSH

More than 10,000 marchers, including fully equipped military units and women's service organizations, were on hand to take part in the afternoon parade.

Honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, marines and costguardsmen, wearing campaign ribbons from all the present war's battlefronts, were likewise expected to march.

Chief Marshal John F. Walsh said the parade would cover the following route: Andrew sq., Dorchester st., West Fifth, E. West Fourth and East Fourth sts., around Thomas Park, East Sixth, East Fourth and L sts., to East Broadway, West Broadway and Dorchester ave.

ROUTE—This is the route of today's parade in South Boston. All the armed services will be represented.

Lake Praises Service Hosts

By AUSTIN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—This serial on New England's AEF operation of the soldiers and officers during my vagabond tour of the combat training centers of Britain. For "vagabond" is the word! Indeed I have never made a single reasonable request that was not granted.

Military red tape and the stiff protocol, so often found on the other side of the ocean, was non-existent.

Each outfit accepted me as a full brother in the lodge—fed me from the common pot, transported me in jeeps, lodged me under the same roof or sky and passed me along to the neighboring unit, with an informal fellowship that U. S. rural folk extend to a circuit-riding parson.

Such hospitality as each outfit had I got, even to the parting invitation to come back as their guest when the "big push" started.

"We'd like to have you 'go in' with us," the C. O. would say, as though that was the finest gift he had to offer. Which in a sense, it was! Not indeed, that these outfits were publicity hungry! For in most cases, as combat units, they were "restricted" and nothing could be printed about their identity, commanders, location or histories. Merely that they felt pleased to have a correspondent share their lives on a common level, and see at first hand the rigors of their existence.

They didn't ask personal credit, but they wanted the home folk to know the hard wear generalities of their lives without false embroideries of glamour and "hero stuff." Just plain facts!

Dream of Home Foods

So I have slept on the high, moist moors in borrowed sleeping bags, where the infantry bivouacked during night problems. And eaten from cold, calory rich R-rations—those pasteboard cellophane-wrapped packages with concentrated, cheerless contents. (It gives one grateful dreams of the comparative food-plenty to be found at home.)

And I have lived as bunk-mate with dungareed buckeros in fog-bound Nissen tents, where they go to bed with the chickens, and rise with the owls. (It is a world without clean sheets or spring mattresses or regulated heat.) And I have jeeped more than 3000 miles with G. I. chauffeurs (I don't exaggerate) and taken wayside pot luck at enlisted messes, where the M. S. always furnished a clean kit with the graciousness of a hotel host.

And I have listened to staff critiques of armored operations at blacked out cross roads, where bearded, haggard junior officers waited the "umpire's" decisions with the anxiety of school football players, while officials debated some important point. And sat in with the fighter and bomber groups during pre-flight briefings before moon-set and watched them take the air to scatter scientific hell on the Nazi target.

So every day became a new adventure, and each night a hobo experience, where one slept where he found himself, some comfortable, some crude, some cozy. There was no pattern!

Calls New Englanders

So there was that afternoon on a bleak, wind-swept hill where, by permission of a two star general, I was allowed to summons New Englanders by means of a portable loud speaker from a regiment of 3000 men, who were watching a tactical demonstration of which I may not speak. And that forenoon in a bomb-shattered English town where companies of infantry were practicing street fighting, and I interviewed them as they crouched behind ruined walls, or peered from gutted houses—lads who wanted to talk about the Red Sox or Codman sq. or Revere Beach, or Suffolk Downs.

Or that early evening when I waited the return of a squadron of Flying Fortresses as they came in from a bombing mission, flak-pocked and bullet splattered, and picked the New Englanders as BRIDGEPORT, Ct., March 17 (AP)—Mrs. Selma Carlson of Stratford was handed a bag believed to contain bread she had purchased in a bake shop, but when she opened it later she found $1850 in cash instead.

A call to Leon A. MacDonald established that he was missing a large sum of money.

What had happened was that Mrs. Carlson bought bread and asked that it be put aside to be called for later. Meanwhile, the money sack was placed next to the bread and the wrong one was handed to the purchaser.

MacDonald was so happy that he gave Mrs. Carlson $100... and a loaf of bread for sandwiches.

F.D. Alone Observes Wedding Anniversary

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—It was the 39th wedding anniversary of President and Mrs. Roosevelt today.

White House aides said the chief executive, who spent the day at his desk, sent an anniversary message to the First Lady, currently visiting armed service bases in the Caribbean area. They were married on St. Patrick's day of 1905 in New York city, with President Theodore Roosevelt giving the bride away.

men from the factories to the fighting fronts.

The makers of munitions face the fact that the military has made its choice between their manpower and their materials. The Army will take the able-bodied men and let production struggle along.

The new manpower crisis arose from the Army's pressure for men and its decision to take an estimated 250,000 physically-fit youths under 26 who are now draft-deferred.

LOSS OF PRODUCTION

The decision was disclosed by Donald M. Nelson, after a group of steel executives warned him that the new draft policy would mean "serious loss" of production.

"The Army and Navy need men," replied the War Production Board chairman. "They must get the men even if it means losing production." But he said he was confident that the truly essential munitions needs could be met.

Draft Director Hershey, who also addressed the steel executives, said he could offer them little but sympathy. Admitting that the draft system had failed to meet its calls for many months, he declared that the steel men "should not be dismayed" at the prospect of failing to meet production schedules.

The steel industry has suffered a net loss of 42,000 workers in the last two months, according to industry figures.

LAVE TECHNICIANS

Another result of the Army's choice between men and materials has been the stirring of a frantic but confused effort by civilian officials to find a way of saving perhaps 40,000 "super-essential" young technicians, designers and experts for continued home-front service in the most critical war plants.

Nelson, it was learned, believes that 40,000 is the minimum of 25-year-olds and younger who must be spared because of their special training in the so-called "time-lapse" production programs—the programs which are geared closely to the plan of military offensive.

Arlington Pilot Bags 1st Messerschmitt

"He went past so close that I could have hit him with a broom—if I'd had a broom," declared Lieut. Paul H. Kenney, 25-year-old Arlington Thunderbolt pilot in describing how he shot down his first Messerschmitt 109.

Kenney's story was contained in a dispatch received today from the Eighth Army Air Forces in England.

"We were approaching the bombers from the west and I reported three enemy fighters moving toward our bombers from our right, and below us," Kenney said.

"I gave my ship full throttle and we started down on those guys. I picked the third one. I started down at 24,000 feet and leveled off on his tail at 17,000 and held my fire until I was about 150 yards from him.

"Then I grabbed the trigger and held it down for what seemed a year. His prop wash was bouncing me around a lot but I could see hits all over him and pieces flying off. Then there was an explosion in his wing.

"Naturally he was dodging all over the sky but he suddenly veered off and flopped over on his back. We were down to 5000 feet when a big chunk flew off his plane and smoke started pouring out. I looked back after swinging past

Lieut. Kenney, decorated three times for "meritorious service," is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenney of Forest st., Arlington. He left Clark University in January, 1942, to enter the Army and won his wings a year later. He was promoted to first lieutenant after arriving in England.

SENATE GROUP PUTS 'G. I. BILL' ON LAST LAP

By FRANK REILLY

Boston American Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, March 17—

One of the final steps toward Senate passage of the "G-I bill of rights" for veterans was taken today when the measure was presented to the full membership of the Senate finance committee for approval.

Ser. Bennett Champ Clark, head of the Senate sub-committee on veterans' legislation, hailed the measure as a "document guaranteeing justice to the returning servicemen," as he handed the omnibus bill to Chairman Walter F. George of the potent finance committee.

It was expected that the measure would be quickly approved and reported out of committee before tonight, which means it should come up for a final vote on the floor of the Senate Monday or Tuesday.

As a total of 79 senators are listed as co-authors and sponsors of the legislation, a situation without precedent in the history of the Senate, there is no question as to its passage in the upper branch of Congress.

Meantime, the House committee on veterans' legislation, chairman of which is Cong. John E. Rankin of Mississippi, is waiting to take up the omnibus bill in its turn and speed it through to the floor of the House.

Telegraphed reports were pouring in today to American Legion headquarters from all parts of the country on the results of the nationwide "Sign-Up Day" campaign staged by the Legion in observance of its silver anniversary.

Most of the reports were from Legion posts in small towns, a number having been received from New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island communities.

Hingham Worker Saves Wife in Crossing Crash

With as great a display of heroism as the men who ride the ships he builds, Edward Harris, 32, Hingham shipyard worker, suffering from a broken ankle, today rescued his wife from death as she sat in their stalled automobile at Sharon as a train bore down upon it.

Only second before the locomotive smashed into the car on the Mohawk st. crossing, Harris snatched his wife from the driver's seat and flung her and himself from the path of the speeding New York-Boston flyer.

For a mile and a half the train screeched along the slippery, fog-bound rails, with the wrecked automobile in front, before the engineer was able to bring it to a halt.

TRIED TO FLAG TRAIN

Because of Harris' injured ankle, his wife was driving their car from their home in Mohawk st., Sharon Heights, to the shipyard, when it stalled against a rail of the crossing.

Harris hobbled out of the car as the crossing signal began to flash and went down the track, attempting with a flashlight to flag down the train.

Fog and mist, however, obscured the engineer's vision. When Harris realized that the train was not braking down, he hobbled back to the car and pulled his wife out of the machine, where she had been frozen by fear.

TWO-HOUR DELAY

The train, due in Boston at 6:45 a. m., with passengers from New York, New Haven, Westerly and Providence, was delayed nearly two hours, until a wrecking crew arrived from Providence to clear the rails and supply a new engine.

Pullmans and passenger coaches had to be disengaged and hauled back to Mansfield, where the new engine was attached and the train sent on to Boston over an adjoining track.

Other expresses, including the Federal from Washington, were rerouted over the side rail.

400 Greyhound Busmen Strike

PITTSBURGH, March 17 (AP)

A strike of 400 to 500 drivers and other employees today halted movement of practically all buses in the Greyhound's system from the Atlantic seaboard to the Middle West, H. S. Crawford, regional manager, said today.

Crawford said the walkout was precipitated by discharge of two drivers here when they refused to take out buses. He said the management had offered to submit the dispute to arbitration but the union had not accepted the offer.

The strikers are members of the AFL-Amalgamated Ass'n of Street and Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employees.

Hundreds of passengers were left stranded.

Greyhound Bus Co. officials here said the strike would not effect this vicinity.

Thomas Patrick Mitchell proudly wore his shamrock today about the hotel where he works—but it took a lot of doing, even for a loyal Irishman.

It took Mitchell three weeks to get his shamrock from relatives in County Cork. Regulations required him to fill out an involved import license form.

His first letter to his folks asking for a "bit o' green" to wear on the saint's day was sent back to him with a form headed "regarding the importation of a shamrock from Eire."

Paddy the Mitchell wouldn't be stopped by red tape. Under the line tabbed "description of goods," Paddy wrote that his "import" was "one spot of shamrock, weighing two or three ounces and worth two shillings and sixpence."

And where the government demanded "facts to prove the goods are of bona fide non-enemy," the Irishman had an answer, indeed.

"Shamrocks won't grow outside of Ireland," Paddy stated with simple dignity.

Vice Cleanup Move Widens

With two men and a woman already taken into custody on grand jury indictments, new arrests were expected today in Boston's anti-vice drive.

Those arrested a few hours after the Suffolk Grand Jury studying vice conditions in Boston issued 18 secret indictments were Frank C. Lang, 54, and his wife, Helen, 39, of Columbia rd., Dorchester, and Frederick A. Walsh, 35, of Edgerly pl., South End.

The Dorchester couple was picked up in an Albany st. restaurant by Capt. Leo Masuret, of the South End station, and charged with maintaining "a certain nuisance." They furnished bail of $1000 each. Walsh was held on a morals charge.

The grand jury action resulted from a raid on a Joy st. apartment last January in which several persons, including teen-age boys, were arrested. John U. Perkins, owner of the apartment, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction.

Hunt Armed Firebug In 7 Maine Blazes

BRUNSWICK, Me., March 17 (AP)—Scores of householders kept watch until daylight, and many patrolled the streets, in quest of a man authorities believed to be responsible for seven fires which broke out in homes and business establishments during the night.

Police believed they knew the identity of the man and also feared he was armed with a shotgun. Gunshots were heard in the vicinity of several of the fires during the night and members of the family of the suspected man reported a shotgun was missing from their home.

Police believed the suspect had sought, by firing the shotgun intermittently, to call firemen and police away from the fires.

More than 20 adults and children were endangered by the seven fires.

Adding to the confusion was the theft of a firefighter's automobile and the taking of $40 from one of the fired buildings.

Two of the fires, all of which occurred between 10:55 p. m. and 4:50 a. m., caused serious damage to a garage and a market building. The other fires, three of which were discovered in homes and two in garages, were extinguished soon after they broke out.

The fires centered around Oak and Cushings streets.

The most serious fire destroyed an automobile and 10 caskets in the undertaking establishment and garage of Elvery Demers.

Police said the man they suspected had been arrested four years ago on a charge of setting fires.

One shot fired by the suspect came so close to Police Chief Alexander and his searching companions that they believed it was fired at them.

ROUTS BANDIT—Confronted by a man who ordered her to "open the safe and give me the dough," Miss Gisele Fitzgerald of Allston, cashier in downtown Summer st. restaurant, screamed for help. Then man, about 35, fled.

U. S. Reply Given Pope, Say Nazis

LONDON, March 17 (INS)—The Vichy radio asserted today the American charge d'affaires at the Vatican has handed Cardinal Maglione, Papal secretary of state, a note from State Secretary Hull.

The note, the enemy-dominated broadcast said, referred to Allied raids on Rome and was believed to be a reply to the Pope's recent speech in which he called on the warring nations to spare the Eternal City.

There was no confirmation of the enemy statement in Allied circles.

4 War Writers Get Purple Heart

WITH FIFTH ARMY BEACH-HEAD FORCES, March 16 (delayed) (AP)—Four American war correspondents were slightly injured this morning when bombs hit the "Villa Virtue," Fifth Army public relations headquarters and the home of the beachhead correspondents.

The injured were William Strand of the Chicago Tribune who sustained cut; and bruises on the arm and shoulder from falling plaster; Wick Fowler of the Dallas News, who was injured slightly on the neck and shoulder; Sergt. George "Slim" Aarons, Yank Magazine photographer, whose hand and face were slightly lacerated, and George Tucker of the Associated Press, who suffered a slight injury to the right foot.

All received the Purple Heart. Ernie Pyle, United Features Syndicate columnist, escaped with a slight scratch on his face. He had switched beds only a few hours before and the bed he left was buried under tons of debris.

MacArthur Repeats His Vow of Victory

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FEB. MARCH 17, 1944

NEW YORK, March 17 (INS)—At the appropriate time, "one of the great offensives of the war" will be launched to crush Japan and liberate the entire Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today.

Speaking in Canberra on the second anniversary of his arrival in Australia from Corregidor, Gen. MacArthur reiterated his promise to return to the Philippines.

"Two years ago," he said, according to a transcript of a broadcast recorded by Blue Network, "I said to the people of the Philippines—I shall return."

"Tonight I repeat those words. I shall return."

RETURN IS INEVITABLE

"Nothing is more certain than our ultimate reconquest and liberation from the enemy of those and adjacent lands. One of the great offensives of the war will at the appropriate time be launched for that purpose."

"With God's help it shall be decisive, not only of redemption, but of Japanese isolation from southern conquests, and of Chinese restoration of Pacific ocean communications."

The last two years, Gen. MacArthur said, have been "momentous ones" for Australia.

"You have faced the gravest peril of your history," the southwest Pacific commander said.

Sales Brisk

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP)—A luxuriously furnished suite of offices in a La Salle st. skyscraper, described by Police Sgt. Timothy O'Connell as a clearing house for high-jacked and illegal market liquor, was raided by police yesterday. Two women and four men were arrested.

For six hours, O'Connell said, he sat at a desk in the office and took "orders" telephoned from several cities for hundreds of cases of liquor. One order, he related, was for 250 cases from a man in Detroit; another was for 100 cases from a New York city caller.

"With your very life at stake you have met and overcome the challenge. It was here that the tide turned in the Pacific, and the mighty wave of invasion broke and rolled back."

TRIBUTE TO HERO DEAD

Gen. MacArthur paid eloquent tribute to the men "who went on their last crusade in the jungle thickets to the north, where they made the fight to save this country."

"With faith in their hearts and hope on their lips they penetrated mists that blind us here," he said. "Their yesterday makes possible our tomorrow."

"They came from the four quarters of the world, but whatever the land that gave them birth, under their stout white crosses they belong now to Australia forever."

Gen. MacArthur accepted from Gov.-Gen. Lord Gowrie of Australia the Knight's Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath. He said he would wear the order in honor of those who died for Australia's freedom.

A gift to the Red Cross today is a lift for the armed forces tomorrow. Give now!

HUNGER STRIKE OF IRISH REBEL IN 24TH DAY

BELFAST, NORTHERN IRELAND, March 17 (AP)—Hugh McAteer, 29-year-old chieftain of the outlawed Irish Republican army who was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment on a treason conviction two years ago, today entered the 24th day of a "hunger strike to death" begun after rejection of his request that he be given the status of a political prisoner.

McAteer has lost about 10 pounds since he began his strike, prison officials said, but has been drinking large quantities of water and has shown no great signs of weakness. The status of political prisoner would entitle him to certain privileges he is now denied—including better food and living conditions.

McAteer's hunger strike is the longest in this country since Terence McSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, fasted 74 days to his death during the Irish rebellion in 1920.

Twelve other prisoners in the jail have joined McAteer in rejecting all food, and hunger strikes also have spread to Londonderry, where it was disclosed 100 prisoners have refused to eat since Tuesday.

One of the strikers in the Belfast jail was taken to a hospital today in advanced stage of emaciation.

In London, William Lowry, Ulster minister of home affairs, declined in the Commons to allow relatives to see any of the hunger strikers or permit their examination by personal physicians.

"Their own relatives, at an appropriate time—say when death is imminent—will be duly notified," he declared.

James Maurer Dead

READING, Pa., March 17 (AP)—James H. Maurer, Socialist party candidate for vice-president in 1928 and 1932, is dead. He would have been 80 years old April 15.

12 GIRL JUNIOR 3D ENTRANT IN ORATORY TEST

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FR., MARCH 17, 1944

A 16-year-old junior, Marilyn McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. McCarthy of 19 Alton st., Roxbury, today was announced as the representative of the girls' division of Mission Church High School in the John Paul Jones oratorical contest.

Marilyn's entry is the third of a Boston high school champion for the local eliminations in Faneuil Hall on March 31. Co-captain of her school debating team, Marilyn was a member of the Mission oratorical unit as a sophomore last year.

Also chosen for the local contest were Kevin Francis MacGovern, 17, of Boston Boys' Latin School and Pauline E. Hurley, 17, of Jamaica Plain High School.

CLOSES MARCH 24

With the announcement of these entries the contest editor issued the reminder that Friday, March 24, is the final day for schools and colleges to report the winners of their eliminations.

All who compete will be eligible for a share of the $20,000 in War Bond prizes, offered locally and nationally, by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser and other Hearst newspapers.

All Boston public and parochial high schools, plus several leading Boston colleges, will enter outstanding student orators in the contest designed to honor the memory of America's illustrious naval hero of the Revolution.

Miss McCarthy's entry recalled that the Mission Church High School produced the winner of last year's Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Oratorical Contest.

FINALS IN NEW YORK

From the eliminations in Faneuil Hall on March 31 will be chosen two students—one from a college and another in the high school division—to enter the Eastern zone finals at New York on April 13.

Prizes of $100 war bonds will be awarded to each of the two selected as local first place winners.

Winners in the Eastern zone finals will enter the national finals April 18, traveling to New York and the national contest with all expenses paid. Prizes in the nationals include $1000 war bonds in each division.

Remember to report the names of your school winners without delay to the John Paul Jones Oratorical Contest Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

U. S. FLIER LOST IN ALASKA 84 DAYS, SAFE

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 17 (INS)—After wandering 84 days in the Alaskan wilderness, Lieut. Leon Crane, 24, of Philadelphia, returned to civilization today.

Crane parachuted from an Army bomber Dec. 21. He and four companions were reported missing and presumed dead.

Facing temperatures of 30 and 40 below zero with only his flying suit and parachute to combat the cold, Crane fought his way through the wilderness for nine days with no food and little water.

He finally stumbled to an unoccupied prospector's cabin, where he obtained supplies. After that he lived off the land as he trekked slowly and painfully over gale-swept wastelands to reach Ladd Field at Fairbanks.

In spite of his battle with the grudging elements, Crane arrived at Fairbanks in such vigorous health that he was returned to active duty almost immediately and was placed in charge of a search for his fellow passengers.

Crane believes his fellow-passengers may still be alive. They were listed as Second Lieut. Harold E. Hoskins, Pilot, Fulton, Me.; Lieut. James B. Sibert, Norfolk, Va.; Master Sergt. Richard L. Pompeo, crew chief, Mt. Holly Springs, Pa.; Staff Sergt. Ralph S. Wenz, assistant crew chief, Pinedale, Wyo.

Long given up for dead, the young air transport command officer came back to civilization in the same way he departed—by air.

After battling the elements for weeks, Crane met a trapper, Albert Ames, who guided him by dogsled to Woodchopper, Alaska, a tiny mining camp about 40 miles from where Ames lives with his wife and three children.

Have suit prices gone up?

That's a timely question, sir! We don't blame you for wanting to know if you'll have to pay more this Spring. Speaking for Bond's, the answer is "NO"!... Now we both know that there are two ways to raise prices. It can be done by boosting price tags. It can also be done by cutting quality. So let's take a look at these Style Manor Suits—just arrived from our own workrooms. The price tag says $28.00. Exactly the same as last Spring. Exactly the same as 1942. What's more, their needlework hasn't changed one iota. It's still the smooth-fitting product of the same tailors who have been making these suits for years. And the woolens? You're going to get 100% pure worsteds and worsted chevrons of intrinsic value equal to any we've ever shown. That's laying it on the line for you—in a manner we think you'll appreciate. It's the Bond way of making and keeping friends. We'd like you to be one of them.

they came from the Interrogation Room still hot from the hunt.

And that moonlit, early morning where the Thunderbolt pilots sat like leather-clad gnomes, and sipped pineapple juice while listening to the pre-combat lecture of a grish-looking lieutenant-colonel. And that rain-soaked, soupy wallow where the mud was like a chocolate smear, and the lads lived in a perpetual state of mildew, only a few short miles from highlands where the sun shone in crystal clarity, and the air was sweet with frosty perfumes.

And those great brick, pre-war British barracks where the men lived in close, cramped, double-bunked dormitories that smelt of carbolic solution, and soft coal fumes and body odors, and did close order drill in areas that looked like jail yards. And those occasional, deep country mansions where the British gentry had been turned out of their horticultural gardens, and grass deer parks, and where the GI's lived in ancient halls that had known royalty.

Hollow Holidays

Christmas and New Years seemed a hollow mockery in the British lack country, made doubly so by the difference between English and New England time. It was 7 p. m. when the company's chaplain began his carol song in a steel roofed Nissen hut, and the soldiers lifted their voices in a mechanical chant, while turning their minds inward to mirrored visions of home. It was 7 p. m. there, but only 2 in the afternoon around Boston, and at the peak of the holiday. The men were glad when Christmas was over.

New Year's Eve was like any other night in the big brick caserne. And the day that followed was just another rotation of the earth on its axis. There was a 24-hour "problem" going on in the deep gloom beyond my billet and a staccato chatter of machine gun and rifle fire, and a baritone yelp of mortars greeted the year as it came round the corner.

I mention these as sample experiences with no intent at self-glorification. But to account the help and good will I received from the overseas army where, oftener than not, there was no press relation set-up and the itinerant newsmen was as rare as butter in Berlin. Without such fraternal help this job would have been impossible.

For there was no such thing as a pre-arranged schedule of visitations or fine timing of day-by-day stops with transportation schedules neatly joined or food and sleeping accommodations reserved.

Nelson Knew Answers

I was started out from London by the Headquarters PRO and given the location of a certain unit. And from there it was a matter of "hobnobing" one's way to the next unit and the next, with the telephone aid of the local command, who usually lifted his receiver and called a mysterious, key name and said, "We have an accredited news correspondent, who wants to visit you. Okay... this afternoon." As informal as that!

It was better that way! For had one been obliged to refer each new visit back to the London HQ and wait the time-consuming delays of overloaded English telephone service, plus the taxed time of the press officers, progress would have been snail-slow and the jump-off intervals stretched from hours to days.

So it was partly the unfamiliarity of the down-country command in dealing with newsmen—of which, during my travels, I only encountered one other, and mostly their good will that opened the road to the New England home-bred soldiers.

Only once during the tour did I find an outfit fully prepared to furnish the names, towns and states of every soldier in its command. And there, due to the experience and ingenuity of a former press relations man for the University of Tennessee (Boston sports writers who went to the

"B. C. Sugar Bowl" game will remember Lyn Nelson) the hunt for homebreds was like shooting sitting ducks.

The captain merely thumbed down his list, reached for the telephone and made visiting arrangements in some distant nook or cranny. Then we mounted a squat jeep and hit the road. Not indeed that even there I got all the New Englanders on the roster, for some were on far away firing ranges and some on bi-weekly hikes, or on furlough or hospitalized.

But elsewhere than this one unit we—and I say "we" meaning the escort officer who was usually attached to me by the unit command—shouted the New Englanders out of mess lines, or from barrack movies, or in billets, or wherever we found a standing formation.

And sometimes we halted detachments on the roads or lanes, wherever we saw a body of men, and "fell out" the N Eers for swift interviews. And though there were many times when our calls were met with blank stares or negative shakes of the head, we collected day-to-day groups of our breed.

War Game Kills 3 Bay State Men

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 17.—Three Massachusetts men were listed today among 11 soldiers, attached to the 66th Division who drowned when two assault boats capsized during amphibious training.
 The men were identified by public relations officers at Camp Robinson as Pfc. Edward H. De Grasse, of Scituate; Pfc. Norman H. Randall, of Marshfield, and Pvt. Robert E. Swellie, of West Springfield.
 The drownings occurred in an artificial lake, which the men were crossing. A board of inquiry has been named.

3 Quads Die In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Quadruplets were born to a 38-year-old Argentine woman, but by night three of the babies had died leaving a girl weighing slightly more than two pounds surviving.
 The birth of the quads, two boys and two girls, to Senora Celio Giachino De Angiulli at a hospital in a suburb of Buenos Aires came while the public was discussing the authenticity of the previously reported Diligent quintuplets.
 Meanwhile, a search of vital statistics failed to show any registration of the birth of quintuplets here, although Argentine law makes parents responsible for registration of births within three days after the event. The five babies of Senora Franco Diligent now are reported eight months old.

Eire Divides Interest Twixt Holiday and War

LONDON, March 17 (INS)—St. Patrick's Day was celebrated as usual in Eire today even though much attention was diverted from the celebration to interest in the state's role in the war.

Several thousand visitors from Ulster (north Ireland) flocked to Dublin where most hotels were crowded to capacity. Most of the Ulstermen wore the Shamrock. The Irish Press, of which Prime Minister de Valera is controlling director, declared editorially:

"However hard the struggle, we are buoyed up by the knowledge that across the dividing sea there are millions of Irish watching us with interest and sympathy as millions of hearts beat in tune with ours."

The publication referred to De Valera's refusal to close German and Jap embassies which the United States and Britain maintain are engaged in espionage activities against Anglo-American invasion forces.

410 YANKS DIE IN 'MISTAKE' AIR TRAGEDY

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—The War Department has confirmed the loss of 410 American paratroopers in action over Sicily when Allied ground and naval anti-aircraft gunners mistook 23 U. S. transport planes for enemy ships and joined with enemy artillery in shooting them down.

Military censorship had long secret the action, which occurred more than eight months ago, on the night of July 10-11, 1943.

Now the Army, officially disclosing that the planes were part of a flight in which 2500 troops of the 82d Airborne Division were flown into the Gela area, said:

The "mission was one of reinforcement designed to drop parachute troops within own lines."

"This force, consisting of 170 aircraft, received anti-aircraft fire from enemy ground forces and from friendly naval and ground forces with losses of 23 aircraft and 410 personnel.

"The flight arrived in the battle area immediately following an enemy bombing attack and while their flares were still in the air."

"The combination of circumstances involving the approach immediately in rear of a hostile bombing attack at night at a relatively low altitude were the responsible factors in the loss of the planes."

Gershon Takes Up VFW Duties

Benjamin H. Gershon, member of the Sunday Advertiser editorial staff, today prepared to take over new duties as commander of the Boston Newspapermen's Post 3188, Veterans of Foreign Wars, following his election to that position.

Gershon served overseas in World War I with the AEF and Army of Occupation. After the war he was a foreign correspondent and reported the revolutions in Germany and Italy. He has been a member of the Hearst editorial staff for 20 years. He also is a member of the Crosscup-Pishon Post, American Legion.

Other officers elected were Harry Sheldon, senior vice-commander; Harry Fisher, junior vice-commander; Lawrence Zimmerman, quartermaster; Wilfred Jacobs, adjutant; Michael Carchia, judge advocate, and Max Shurin, chaplain.

Paper Collection Due Next Week

Because the paper shortage is so acute that a slow-down in war production looms, Boston will stage another waste paper collection drive next week in connection with the tin can pick-ups.

Salvage Chairman George G. Hyland set the waste paper goal at 1,500,000 pounds in five days and ordered city trucks made ready for the collection task.

On the first day, next Monday, collections of paper and scrap tin will be made in East Boston, Charlestown, North End, South End, Beacon Hill, West End, Back Bay and downtown. Paper in other wards will be gathered in their numerical order throughout the week.

Power Politics In Italy

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FEB. MARCH 17, 1944

PREMIER STALIN of Soviet Russia has once more left his United Nations partners flat-footed by his unilateral recognition of the Badoglio government in Italy.

The United States and Great Britain, which conducted the military campaign against Italy and brought about the collapse of the Mussolini government, have regarded the Badoglio government as a stop-gap regime—correctly recognizing its inability to claim any authority stemming directly and decisively from the Italian people.

But Russia, which had nothing to do with the present state of affairs in Italy, has opportunistically by-passed not only the Italian people but the American and British allies by officially establishing diplomatic relations with the Badoglio regime.

The discomfiture of the American and British authorities is easy to see, and hard to conceal.

But the American and British authorities are not alone in their discomfiture.

In fact, as Captain John H. Craigie has written for International News Service:

"The confusion of Communists outside Russia as they endeavor to follow the bewildering right-about-faces of Moscow's party line, lends a touch of comedy to an otherwise grim international situation."

Confusion should by now be the natural state of mind of all Communists, including the agile American Communists.

Hanging on to the flying coat-tails of Stalin, the great realist, is an arduous and perplexing experience.

It involved acceptance of the 1939 fellowship with Hitler, and then the abrupt abandonment of that relationship in 1941.

Now it involves fraternization with an Italian regime against which Communist demonstrations in Naples had been carried out at the exact moment Stalin was giving that regime his blessing.

As Captain Craigie comments:

"There is no comedy in Moscow's Italian policy, only unswerving determination to play the game of power politics to Russian advantage at any sacrifice that may be necessary to party-line dogma previously proclaimed as 'principles.'"

WHILE THERE IS NO SYMPATHY to be wasted in behalf of confused Communists, there is grave concern to be expressed in behalf of floundering Allied diplomacy.

Why should Stalin be the only realist playing the international game of power politics?

Why do not the American and British authorities, which have in turn been left flat-footed by Stalin in North Africa, in Poland, in the Baltic republics, in Finland and now in Italy, arouse themselves and assert and defend and preserve the fundamental interests and advantages of THEIR countries?

Stalin has not "recognized" the Badoglio government in Italy out of friendship or benevolence.

As Captain Craigie says, he has established "a foothold in another Western European country."

He intends to make Italy a Communist country, and has moved a long way toward that purpose by befriend, flattering and strengthening a regime which he realizes will be from now on at least a friendly and co-operative regime and very probably a subservient puppet regime.

Russia's march toward the complete hegemony of Europe is swift and sure.

Boston Honors Great Men

THIS is a two-anniversary day in Boston and throughout much of Massachusetts.

As a patriotic people we celebrate Evacuation Day and pay deserved tribute to our brave ancestors who ousted the British troops one hundred and sixty-eight years ago and paved the way for enduring American independence.

As a religious people we honor Saint Patrick, the universally revered Apostle of Eire.

A stranger in our midst would probably say that the two observances were too different in nature ever to be mentioned in the same breath—or editorially.

He might contend that it was incongruous simultaneously to pay respect to soldiers distinguished by their success in warfare and a saint illustrious for his contribution to peace.

But the stranger would be wrong.

The men who fought under General Washington and died for liberty did so because they knew they represented honor and justice.

Saint Patrick also represented honor and justice when he carried the message of his Saviour into pagan lands.

Hence there is no lack of harmony in our two-anniversary observance.

Whether we pause at the graves of the Colonists or pray at a shrine dedicated to Saint Patrick we lift up our hearts to noble principles and ideals.

It is also proper at this time to remember that if George the Third of England had paid more attention to St. Patrick's teachings there would have been no taxation without representation in America and consequently no need for an annual Evacuation Day celebration.

Here take my heart—'twill be safe in thy keeping
While I go wandering o'er land and sea.
Smiling or sorrowing, waking or sleeping,
What need I care if my heart is with thee?
—MOORE.

AN ARMY SERGEANT has requested a poem to send to his girl when he leaves for overseas duty. Therefore, we are quoting again what we believe the best of the poems of the kind the sergeant requests. . . . Am asked what a mother should say to her son's bride right after the wedding. I find this query a bit baffling. While our Horses & Women department wishes to offer the best service possible, it is not our intention in any way to replace text books on etiquette. However, I do not think right after the wedding is a time for too much consideration of the rules of etiquette. A mother should say something that comes from the heart; not from a book on etiquette. My mother said to my bride: "All I hope for you is that my son makes you as happy as his father did me."

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: The Argentine army marches in goose-step time same as the Germans. . . . Am asked what star gazers say about Libra men. Is claimed male Libras are hard to get, not easy to please and difficult to dominate. In selecting a wife, they put beauty before brains. Nietzsche was a Libra. He referred to women as "dangerous toys." . . . Japan trebled its population in the past 65 years. France has about the same population it had 70 years ago. . . . There are 41 Army bugle calls. An Army bugler doesn't use a bugle but a trumpet. I suppose you know the difference between a bugle and a trumpet.

MONEY, ETC.: Is stated the $20 bill has now supplanted the $10 bill as the most used currency. Not with me. How about you? At the New York racetracks last season the longest line was at the $50 windows. Same condition prevails in Florida. Many people seem supplied with much money nowadays. Where do they get it? And after they get it, how do they keep it from the tax collector? Sometimes I am inclined to believe what the late Hamlet said of Denmark goes double for the United States at this time.

PROPINQUITY: As to why so many men fall in love with and marry their secretaries, a feminine subscriber says: "Proximity does it." She adds: "On Copyright 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"Colonel, Sir, your uniform's back from the tailor, but I think there's been some mistake!"

this subject I speak with some authority. On three occasions I have married my boss. First when I was 18 years old, second at 24, third at 28. All my husbands have been lawyers."

SIDELIGHTS: The Democratic party has elected eight Presidents; the Republican party 11. Unless you can name these Presidents and the dates of their administrations, you should blush for your ignorance of political matters and wonder if you really deserve a vote. . . . A majority of sport scribes in a recent pool named Jack Dempsey as "the greatest ringman of the 20th century." My choice would be Harry Greb. Jack Kearns, who knew more about Dempsey's ability than any man, recently stated: "I don't believe Dempsey could have beaten Greb when both were at their best, for Greb had too much speed and was even rougher than Dempsey was."

ASIDES: Maureen O'Hara of Chicago has been made a member of the Namesakes-of-the-Famous Club. . . . Cocktail bar advertisement in a Milwaukee newspaper features the following handsome offer: "Popular whiskies 20 cents." . . . Only 15 per cent of parents in the United States have three children or more. So if you have three kiddies or more you are unusual parents. . . . Dispatch from London reveals a score is kept of air victories of fliers. Top man of the United States forces has 20 victories to his credit. In World War I Capt. Manfred von Richthofen of Germany had 80 air victories to his credit. Lieut. Rene Fonck of France had 75 and Eddie Rickenbacker of the United States 25.

PASSING BY: Helen Gahagan. Ex-actress. Her great hit was "Tonight or Never." During this engagement she met the man she married, Melvyn Douglas. Helen is going to run for Congress. Cornelia Otis Skinner may run for Congress, also. We can use some more quick-quitted young women in Congress. However, if Helen and Cornelia do become Congresswomen, I hope they will not forget they represent both males and females of their district. Some feminine representatives devote the major portion of their time trying to get over legislation favorable to women. . . . Prof. Albert Einstein. Is said the professor's theory of relativity is understood by only seven persons. This may soon be increased to eight. Joel Kupperman is reported studying it. . . . Gus Van, vaudevillian. Once of the team of Van and Schenck. If I remember rightly, Mr. Van popularized that quaint ditty titled "My Brother Sylvester." . . . Jimmy Durante. Asked for an autograph by a feminine fan, the gallant Mr. Durante tips his hat says "with the greatest of pleasure" and then taking out his fountain pen with a flourish writes in the book not merely his autograph but also a rhyme of some kind such as:

In the storms of life
May your umbrella
Be always upheld
By a handsome young fella.

PLEASE NOTE: Note a reference to "that long lean look" indicating same is desirable in feminine appearance. No doubt it is from the stylists' viewpoint. However, from a man's angle, when a woman is "long" it is not desirable she be too "lean." Tall, statuesque, nicely proportioned women weighing from 140 to 160 have always been popular with men. This may not altogether be a question of appearance: it may be women who are not trained down too much are usually better natured and easier to get along with than the "long lean" ladies. . . . A soldier has written me he was "astonished" when in Chicago that a number of taxicab drivers refused to take any fare from him. "What a town! What a town!" says the fighting man enthusiastically. He has something there. It is the people who live in it that make a town. That's why Chicago is such a good town. It reminds me of what Brooklyn used to be.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 17—Shirley Temple can now appear in "Cabbages and Kings" and never go to Broadway. That is, if David Selznick is willing to lend her to M-G-M for they have bought the film rights of "Cabbages and Kings" from Mike Todd. The story is charming, with its musical score by Alec Templeton, but Mike goes into the Navy and will have no time to produce a play on Broadway.

The price paid by M-G-M for "Cabbages and Kings" is, if you are interested, $100,000, which you will admit isn't peanuts, nor is it an excessive price when we consider Dr. Cronin's book, "The Green Years," brought twice that amount.

HERE'S PLEASANT and surprising news. George Cukor, who has directed such ladies of the screen as Garbo, Hepburn and Shearer, has been borrowed by 20th to direct "Winged Victory."

How do I know? Well, when I was on the M-G-M lot a few days ago, a little bird told me that George, who is mutually acceptable to Moss Hart and Darryl Zanuck, will direct this war-time epic.

Maybe you wonder why so valuable a man was given to another studio? Well, M-G-M, knowing that "Winged Victory" is an important patriotic enterprise, couldn't very well refuse. Besides, they will get something they want in return, you may be sure. George, who was in the Army a year, and knows military regulations, is an excellent choice.

ANN SOTHERN, just back from seeing Bob Sterling in Sacramento, is heading for Reno—but not for the reason you think! Annie's next is "Maisie Goes to Reno," and I don't want to hear any cracks about "Maisie Does to Reno," either. John Hodiak, the up and coming hero who clicked first in "Lifeboat" and is now with Lana Turner in "Marriage Is a Private Affair," gets the male lead opposite "Maisie" Sothern. And don't ever underestimate the popularity of this series. Some of our best actors stepped stardom in the "Maisies," including Robert Young, John Carroll and Melvyn Douglas. The picture rolls March 27, with Harry Beaumont directing.

DOROTHY McGUIRE said "no," and so she isn't reporting to RKO for Norman Krasna's coming movie, "That Hunter Girl." She had been loaned by David Selznick, but she didn't feel the story was right for her. Selznick's other player, Alan Marshall, who is one of the most attractive actors on the screen, keeps his job. He will have Laraine Day as his co-star instead of the little McGuire girl, who apparently has ideas of her own about her movies. The minute Selznick heard of Dottie's rebellion he suspended her—and then put her to work immediately on a Red Cross short so he couldn't have been too mad.

PAULETTE GODDARD'S friends, who were very anxious when they heard that she was in a hospital in Delhi, India, will be very happy to know that she was only over-tired and not actually ill. Mary Gargan heard from

ANN SOTHERN
Plays Reno-Bound Maisie

Bill, who is touring the camps with La Goddard, and he said that Paulette had been doing three and four shows a day and was near exhaustion when they reached Delhi. A friend of the Gargans met them when they arrived and insisted that Paulette, whose voice was ragged from fatigue, take a 24-hour rest in the hospital, which she did. She is due back in six weeks, or possibly less, for a picture at Paramount.

CERTAINLY HOLLYWOOD couldn't have a better ambassador of good will than Edgar J. Mannix, whom everybody in our town likes. Eddie leaves here April 5 for a month's vacation in Mexico City and from there will go to South America, both for M-G-M and the motion picture industry.

ONE OF MY reliable scouts tells me that Columbia has invested $20,000 in Zorina's new play, "Shadow Dance," probably with the idea of later making a motion picture of it. Richard Kollmar, the producer, Dorothy Killgallen's husband, is making a fine record for himself on the Broadway stage. Balanchine will do the Zorina dances. Wonder if Columbia has a commitment with Zorina, who will make many new friends after "Follow the Boys," the Charles Feldman picture, is released.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Now it's Fred de Cordova who is getting Anne Shirley's attention; Mickey Rooney's birthday party for Ramsey Ames the last of the month may be his farewell to Hollywood, since he is expected to be inducted into the Army; O. O. Hall, on the M-G-M lot as producer for years, is running for city councilman in Beverly Hills; the Jack Bennys and Danny Kayes were Joe E. Lewis' best audience at Slapsy Maxie's. These two top comedians roared at Joe, Gracie Allen and George Burns were equally appreciative. Gail Patrick and Norman Taurog were also at the opening. They are getting to be a steady duet; Humphrey Bogart's great dame, "Jackson," has been honorably discharged from the Canine Corps. (On the Q. T.—"Jackson" was taking naps at friends as well as foes!); everybody's turning out for the show John Calvert (the magic man) is putting on at the Playtime Theater next Tuesday. Among those who have bought tickets to help the VACS raise money for the Van Nuys Hospital are Rox Russell, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Randy Scott and Claudette Colbert; an unusual luncheon duet was Bubbles Schinas (the former Mrs. Wayne Morris) and Pat Stewart (the current Mrs. M.); Sheila Ryan has signed for weekly broadcasts in television; Bob Hope sent Bing Crosby a Panama hat with the note: "Guess where I've been!"

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NATAL, BRAZIL, Thursday—On landing in Belem, there was a reception from the Brazilian officials who welcomed me and for some officers, nurses, Red Cross workers and U. S. O. workers. The next morning there was a short press conference at which questions had to be interpreted and my answers translated! Afterwards I visited the Naval Air Station where Lieut.-Comdr Congdon is in charge, and then we left for Natal.

Admiral Ingram is away on a mission, but Gen. Walsh and Adm. Read are not only taking good care of me, but are arranging full schedules so that I may see as much as possible of what has been accomplished and as many of our men as I can.

THE RED CROSS GIRLS only joined the field director a month ago. One is from Philadelphia, one is from Baltimore, and one is from Boston. They are already popular in the hospital, and are setting up a small recreation center for the men on the post and will teach craftwork.

After a night's sleep, we started out fairly early and visited the naval air base, the hospital, and various other installations around the camp. At 11 o'clock we took off for Natal. This is a country of magnificent distances and as yet communications are not highly developed, so each state is like a little country in itself.

What impresses me is the extraordinary co-operation that has existed between our officials and the Brazilian officials, and how very kindly the people have felt towards our men.

BOSTON'S FLOWER LOVERS are luckier than most for the Hub is having the only major Spring Flower Show in the country. It opens tomorrow in Horticultural Hall.

Today the hall is a turmoil of preparations and one of the busiest groups includes the women of the Garden Club Federation under direction of Mrs. Chester Cook.

Garden Clubbers are exhibiting flower arrangements against home backgrounds such as a mantelpiece, the corner of a living room, a dining or living room table. Yellow will be the predominating color the first three days, then red, and the end of the week the exhibits will feature flowers of all hues.

Exhibitors include Mrs. Joseph Lund, Mrs. Charles E. Spencer, Jr., Louisa Vaughn, Mrs. Edward W. Leonard, Mrs. Ralph B. Case, Mrs. Robert Barton, Ruth Page, Mrs. Gerald Hoeffel, Mrs. Harold

A GAY and appropriate event of Flower Show week will be the joint meeting which the

Mrs. C. Campbell Patterson, Jr.
Mrs. C. Campbell Patterson, Jr., of Weston will preside in the absence of Mrs. Lyon Weyburn, president of the Junior League Garden Club. Clubs and their presidents joining the league will include Milton, Mrs. Walter D. Brooks; Noanett, Mrs. John I. Wylde; Marblehead, Mrs. Guy M. Whipple; Small Gardens, Mrs. George P. Proctor; North Shore, Mrs. Augustus Loring; Chestnut Hill, Mrs. William K. Jackson; and Brookline, Mrs. E. Russell Norton.

NOTES FROM A SOCIETY EDITOR'S CUFF: Mrs. Robert Hoffman of Charles River gap, is giving a buffet supper Sunday for 40 members and their husbands of the Choral Society, Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs. In the afternoon the singers will give a concert at the Public Library, and after supper many of them plan to visit the flower show. Carl and Natalie Wagner and Lorraine Garfield will be soloists at the concert.

A son, Henry Kelly English, was born March 10 at Beverly Hospital to Maj. and Mrs. William D. English of Beverly. The infant's mother won the Harper prize for her first novel a couple of years ago.

Mrs. Arthur W. Hartt, president of Chinese-American Women's Division of United China Relief, is hard at work on plans for the dinner to be given March 28 at the Copley Plaza in honor of the first Chinese vice-consul in Boston, Mr. Kung-Shou Wang. Mrs. James R. Carter has been chosen chairman of ushers and Mrs. L. A. Richards publicity head.

PACIFIC VETS BOOST DRIVE FOR RED CROSS

Back from a distant battle zone, fighting sailors today pitched into the campaign to put the 1944 Red Cross War Fund over the top by contributing a check for $129.71.

"Our ship docked a few days ago and when we learned there was a Red Cross drive going on, the boys said they wanted to give all they could," explained Lieut. C. A. Berry, USNR, of Seattle, Wash., as he handed in the check at War Fund headquarters, 10 Postoffice sq.

With only six days remaining in the drive and the fund still seriously short of the Greater Boston goal of $3,367,000, General Chairman Charles F. Rowley made a new appeal.

He estimated that 38.3 per cent, or $1,288,303, must still be raised if the campaign goal is to be reached by the deadline next Wednesday, March 22.

"Too many people still are under the impression that our drive continues for the rest of the month," Rowley said. "Too many, also, are responding with small gifts suitable for peacetime, but far short of the demands arising from a vital wartime Red Cross program."

The campaign's final report luncheon, to be observed as Districts Day, will be held Monday at the City Club.

Chaplin Baby Suit Trial Must Go On

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Joan Berry's paternity suit against producer-actor Charles Chaplin must go to trial, the District Court of Appeals held.

The appellate court denied Chaplin's petition for a writ of mandate to compel superior court to dismiss the civil suit, brought by his former protégée who claims he is the father of her five months old child, Carol Ann.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of MeatNew kind of Chop Suey—Stretches Meat Points

Here Armour gives you a recipe for making more flavorful chop suey—with a minimum amount of leftover meat. It's a fine meal to stretch your meat ration!

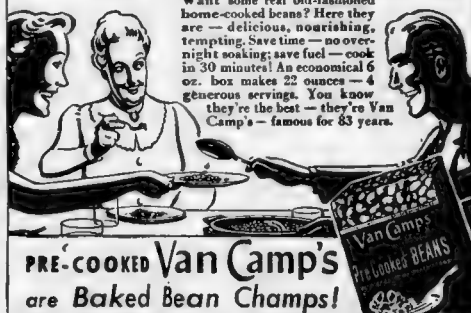

Brown 12 oz. (2 cups) of leftover cooked pork and 1 cup of sliced onions in 3 tablespoons fat or margarine. Add 1 1/2 cups sliced celery, 2 teaspoons of salt and 2 teaspoons of Vitalox.

Vitalox is Armour's new meat flavor discovery. It's a marvelous ration stretcher... a rich blend of beef juice, tomato, vegetable flavoring and spices. It adds new goodness to sauces, gravies, soups and meat dishes. Be sure to get some right away!

Simmer the mixture of pork, onions, celery and seasonings for 25 minutes. Add 1 1/2 cups finely shredded cabbage and 2 teaspoons soy sauce. Cook for about 4 minutes or until cabbage is almost tender. Moisten 1 tablespoon cornstarch with water. Add to chop suey mixture and cook until clear. Serve over Chinese noodles or fluffy rice. Serves 5 to 6.

Try it right away.

Shoes for Children Ration-Free May 1

WASHINGTON, March 17 (INS)—The Office of Price Administration announced that 25,000,000 pairs of low-priced children's shoes will be on sale ration-free throughout the country from May 1 through May 20.

The shoes will be in sizes for children from four to ten years of age, OPA said, and will have a top ceiling price of $1.60 a pair.

The agency explained that the footwear is rationed merchandise which has backed up on wholesalers' and retailers' shelves during the past year, despite the fact that it is serviceable and capable of giving good wear.

Parents generally have preferred, it was said, to use their ration stamps for higher priced children's shoes in the belief that the latter will give more wear per coupon. As a result, a scarcity of medium and higher-priced youngsters' shoes has developed while stores have been unable to sell the lower-priced footwear.

Retailers who advertise these shoes in May must headline their sale "OPA release—children's low-priced shoes. Ration-free from May 1 through May 20."

The shoes will be children's sizes from 8½ through 12 and misses' and little boys' sizes from 12½ through three.

Infants' and children's sizes of 4½ to 8 are not included in shoes to be sold without ration stamps since they are moving well enough under rationing.

Infants' shoes of size 4 and smaller require no ration stamp.

*Their Slow,
Day-long Baking
Is Why
You Like 'Em Best*

True to the extra-delicious, old New England recipe, B&M Brick-Oven Baked Beans (different from the ordinary kind) are baked slowly, slowly, the whole day through. It is this long, slow baking that gives them their surpassing meaty, tender goodness and true old-fashioned flavor which everyone prefers.

Consequently... even with our ovens once again baking these famous Down East favorites... we cannot speed them to your Grocer or you.

Think of this fact whenever your Grocer chances to be temporarily out of B&M Brick-Oven Baked Beans. Remember his present supply is limited... and please have patience. Burnham & Morrill Company, Portland 2, Maine.

Beauty Chiffon Make-up Base Tops

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

AS LIGHT AND FLUFFY AS CHIFFON is a new and interesting make-up base . . . which creams smoothly over the skin in a marvellous transformation of the complexion. No make-up is complete without a foundation . . . and this clinging, non-drying cream base is an aid to that dewy, luminous skin finish. Lovely Virginia Bruce poses.

Hubby Moody

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I'm 18 years old and my husband is 20; we've been married a year and have been very happy except for one thing. My husband is very stubborn and very moody. I don't know how to act—if I try to joke with him he gets mad and won't talk at all, and when I don't play and joke with him he says I don't love him, and he won't speak to me.

I love him so much that I just can't stand it when he doesn't speak to me, and this happens for two or three days at a time. It has been worse since he's gone into the service. He comes home on a week-end pass, and sometimes doesn't speak to me until it's time to leave and then he says "I'll be seeing you."

Do you believe he may be tired of me, or has met another girl he loves more? Tell me what to do, Miss Fairfax.

It's unusual for a husband of 20 to have acquired the formula of handling domestic situations which are the result of little jealousies. Your best bet is to try and cultivate outward indifference to these little tantrums.

He doesn't like it when you don't joke, he doesn't like it when you do. And he departs saying "I'll be seeing you." He wants you to make a big fuss over him when he acts this way. The tantrums are trying, but they'll melt if you disregard them and tell him you've been watching the clock until he comes.

Clear Pastel Wool Suits Tops in Easter Parade

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WHEN Easter comes next month a pretty suit will be about the best kind of costume in which to greet this beautiful day. And what you pick ought to make you look the "top of the morning" all the day.

I suggest something in a clear pastel wool, or in one of the gentle neutrals like beige or light gray. No prettier suit could be found than this one by Nettie Rosenstein, which is made of pastel blue wool. It has a blouse and gloves made of pure silk in a blue shade patterned with jungle products and animals in vivid purple.

The combination with the blue of the suit is stunning, and very pretty, which isn't always the same thing. The simple, well-tailored lines of the suit are softened and made very feminine by the blouse and gloves.

REMEMBER when you could get chiffon pie, fruit or chocolate flavored . . . and how lusciously light it was? Maybe your mummy . . . or you, yourself, if you are a housewife, still make this kitchen delicacy . . . and if you do, you can testify to the requisite fluffiness of its texture.

Chiffon pie is a dessert de luxe . . . and everybody in the family always went for a second helping. The light fluffiness of chiffon has now been transferred to cosmetics . . . and lo and behold . . . there is a chiffon make-up base . . . so soft and creamy it resembles chiffon filling.

Only this chiffon make-up base is a beauty aid . . . a new clinging, non-drying cream foundation . . . to give the skin a dewy, luminous finish that lasts all day and evening.

When you rub your fingers over its creamy surface it sort of melts to the touch . . . it is delicately light. It is an entirely different type of make-up base . . . with excellent coverage to help conceal large pores in many instances . . . and even lighten the circles under your eyes if you have any. Then, too, tiny lines and blemishes seem to vanish with its application.

IT'S A NON-STICKY MAKE-UP BASE

The creators of this unusual cream base claim it absorbs the excess oil secretion of the pores . . . and prevents a shiny nose . . . a blessing, indeed, for those gals who have to dab and dab with the puff to keep the old nose dull and smooth.

Of course, these days with the advance of cosmetic science . . . in developing foundation bases of one sort or another . . . a gal would never be found without a foundation before applying her make-up . . . that is, if she is wise to the beauty demands.

And this make-up base is a non-sticky one . . . doesn't leave moisture . . . nor will it make the face powder streak or cake. Its loveliness is lasting and especially grand for the taking on of a bit of blush and fluff of powder.

It is packaged in a new plastic container with a patented wedge lock closure . . . which takes only one-eighth of a turn to open and close. It looks like a flat rouge case.

ONLY USE A TINY SPECK

If you have a delicate flesh shade of skin . . . fair and true, you'll want the light tone . . . but if you prefer the warm, flattering tan shade . . . medium is your color. There is a soft tuff tone for brunette or sun tanned skin that bespeaks the exotic influence of the sunny climes.

Just a tiny speck on the forehead, nose and under the eyes, cheeks and chin and then smooth over your face evenly. It will be a marvellous transformation for your complexion.

For the name of this chiffon make-up base, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, including a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Better Bar These Words

There's often maliciousness, and very often danger in these words. "Don't think I'm talking behind her back. I would tell it to her face." Better bar these words from your conversation and better not say what you were going to say "behind her back."

LENTEN TREATS

Put Cod on Menu

By MARTHA LEE

KEEPING A WELL-STOCKED emergency shelf is far more of a problem nowadays than it used to be, so any new ways of preparing the old standbys are doubly welcome.

Salt cod from New England, packed in those sturdy little wooden boxes, is one item that lends itself to a great many uses, and, devotees of over-night soaking notwithstanding, a mere half-hour of soaking and washing is quite enough to remove briny taste.

Next time you prepare salt cod, especially as an emergency dish for company, try this Middle American recipe as a colorful change from the more usual codfish balls or creamed salt cod on toast. Put some large potatoes in the oven to bake, and the codfish will be ready, soaking business and all, by the time the potatoes are done.

SALT COD, TROPICAL STYLE

1 pkg. salt cod (1 lb.)
2 tomatoes, chopped
1 large onion, minced
3 tbsp. parsley, minced
1 clove garlic 1 tsp. vinegar
¼ cup salad oil Cayenne

Wash codfish in running water for 15 minutes, then soak in warm water for 10 minutes. Bring to a boil in fresh water, drain, cover with fresh water, bring to a boil again and continue cooking until tender. Meanwhile prepare tomatoes, onion and parsley. Heat garlic in the salad oil until browned, then discard. Add onion, fry gently until softened, then add tomatoes, parsley and vinegar. Cook for 5 minutes, then stir in the codfish broken into small pieces. Simmer for 5 minutes, seasoning to taste with cayenne. Makes 4 servings.

SALT COD AND PORK SCRAPS

Shred codfish by pulling it apart with 2 forks or cutting it with scissors. Freshen it. Drain, cover with cold water and simmer 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender when tested with a fork. Drain. Put in a casserole or deep serving dish. Meanwhile fry diced salt pork until pieces are quite crisp and brown. Then pour fat and fried pork scraps over cooked salt cod, blending thoroughly. Keep warm and covered until served.

CREAMED SALT COD

1 lb. salt cod
3 cups medium white sauce
2 shelled hard-cooked eggs, sliced
Speck pepper

Codfish Vegetable Pie

1 tbsp. sherry (optional)
Prepare and cook codfish as in the recipe above. Add to white sauce (omit salt in making sauce) with the rest of ingredients. Serve with boiled or baked potatoes; or arrange 4 cups of hot mashed potatoes in a ring on a hot platter with creamed salt cod in center. Makes 6 servings.

CODFISH VEGETABLE PIE

2 cups cooked codfish
4 tbsp. butter, margarine or bacon drippings
6 tbsp. flour
¼ tsp. pepper 3 cups milk
2 tbsp. onion (optional)
1 cup cooked peas
1 cup cooked carrots
3½ cups mashed potatoes

Shred cod, pulling it apart with forks, or shears. If salt cod is used, freshen by covering with cold water and heating to boiling point; drain, cover with cold water and repeat process until codfish tastes fresh, about 4 times. Melt butter in top of double boiler, add onion and cook over direct heat 5 minutes; do not brown. Blend in flour and pepper; add milk and cook over hot water until thick, stirring occasionally. Add diced cooked vegetables and codfish. Pour into a 1½ quart casserole; top with a border of mashed potato, brown in a hot oven, 400 deg. F., for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Fashion

STUNNING, ISN'T IT?

This brown and white checked wool suit is a honey which any gal wouldn't mind having in her clothes closet. Decidedly new . . . and a spring forecast . . . are the low box-kick pleats . . . the longer, pinch-in tailored jacket . . . and the lumberjack sleeves. Note the amusing buttons of checked plastic to intensify the checkered symphony of the Fortmann wool model.—R. M.

NEW YORK, March 17—Maj. Robert Leavitt and his bride, Ethel Merman, are knitting tiny garments for a November arrival. It'll be their second... Martha Kemp Mature's reason for dallying in Philadelphia is Allan Bloomingdale... Peggy Fears, they say, wants a million from her expatriate ex, A. C. Blumenthal, who's now the hotspot king of Mexico City... Michael Todd will continue to produce shows while he's in the Navy. He figures that no matter where he goes there'll be a telephone, so he'll carry on via Alex C. Bell... Shirley Booth is hospitalized... Pneumonia... Ciceta Keiler, whose husband was the victim of the "Masked Murderer," will resume her singing career... The FCC will be frontpaged soon with a record of its activities for the last 12 years.

GLORIA VANDERBILT, Sr., and Maurice Chalon, French hero of World War I, are swooning... The Florence Halop-Ed Gardner feud is a bitter one. He fired her after the "Duffy's Tavern" East Coast broadcast and wouldn't let her go on for the repeat show... Nelson Rockefeller's Latin-American committee will make the front pages soon with a scheme to finance Mexico for the Latin-American movie markets... Lina Basquette is working modest and Coast nitery... Macocco has a new blonde—simply ravishing. He's keeping her away from the Bachelor's Nook at El Morocco... M. C. A. will go into the record business after the war. Their tie-ups with the big bands make them a big contender... Joey Faye, the comic, is having AGVA problems.

CONTRARY to the published reports, Lepke didn't leave a colossal fortune. His estate was somewhere between modest and comfortable—nowhere near the million hinted... Arlene Whelan will be leaving the "Doughgirls" cast soon. Leila ("Pal Joey") Ernst may replace her... Heave a sigh: Charles Boyer gets here April 3... The chorines at La Martinique are readying a number in which they play miniature harmonicas while they dance!... A famous comic has his girl friend "trailed" to Mexico to make sure she doesn't date any other fellow.

THE NEW APARTMENT of beautiful Helena Rubinstein is said to have 51 rooms... Francis Lederer accidentally spilt his drink over his companion's evening dress at Sophie Tucker's Copa opening—and got more attention than the show... Mary Dees, the girl who was Jean Harlow's double, has jilted her Rumanian baron for an American with scads of cabbage... Greta Garbo is irked because somebody beat her to sub-letting Louise Macy Hopkins' East Side $300-a-month duplex. Since he learned that his wife was expecting a baby, Jan Kiepura has announced he can only sing seven times a week... Janet Lind, the former "Scandal" beauty, is now a WAVE... Virginia Hill is back in town from Hollywood and keeping the rumba joints busy with her parties... Capt. John Daly, Josie Johnson's ex-fiance, and Blaine Faber, her ex-husband, both carry their torch in the same bistro—Armando's.

FAYE EMERSON, the comedienne, and Crane Henderson, the millionaire Texas cattle man, are a heart today... Vincent Lopez is featuring a Chinese version of "Maizy Doats" (as if it weren't confusing enough!) The lyrics were written by "Tippy" Wong, headwaiter at Lum Fong's. Actress Dorothy Comingo (Mrs. Richard Collins) is hula-baying.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, March 17—War notes: A sailor and a Marine along Hollywood Boulevard singing, "When the war is over, we'll all enlist again!" The picture "Kings of the Ring," which is a pictorial record of the great championship bouts, should be distributed and shown to the soldiers overseas for this is a type film they would enjoy.

The manpower shortage is so bad at Metro that for one added scene in "Kismet" they had their female stock players dressed as men and wearing beards. Can't you just hear a pretty girl telling her boy friend, "You must see me in that picture, I'm the blonde with the beard"... The restaurants are just as crowded as ever and Victor's has this note on the menu: "Yes, it's polite to 'eat and run' these days"... The Paul Henreids gave a party and, of course, there were plenty of movie actors and actresses there. After the party was over, one maid said to another, "My, I never saw so many celebrities. What did they talk about?" The other maid answered, "Us."

SIGN OF THE WEEK: Aloha Ray saw this sign in a local barroom: "I drink to your health when I'm with you. I drink to your health when I'm alone. In fact, I drink to your health so doggone much—I'm practically ruining my own."

GOOD READING: "Never Whistle In A Dressing Room," an interesting book by Maurice Zolotow which reveals much about Broadway and its characters. There is the splendid chapter, "The Duke of Hot," who is Duke Ellington, and the yarn about when Percy Grainger, of the music department at New York University, introduced Ellington by saying that he was "one of America's most talented musicians." "Although," remarked Grainger, "Ellington has apparently influenced such great composers as Stravinski and Ravel, he himself has only been influenced by Frederick Delius." After the lecture, as Duke was traveling uptown to Harlem in a cab, he seemed disturbed. As the cab passed Fourteenth Street, he suddenly told the driver to stop. He darted into a music shop and asked if they had any records by Delius. He had been ashamed to tell Grainger that he had never heard of the celebrated modern English composer. He bought all the Delius records in stock.

NORMAN CORWIN'S radio show, "Movie Primer," was a honey. It kidded Hollywood with good humor, and without being bitter or offensive. Much has been written and said about Bob Hope's speech at the Gridiron dinner where his particular audience was President Roosevelt. And the President was a great audience, banging on the table after every Hope gag. And when Hope concluded, President Roosevelt, although he had already made his speech, said that he regretted that the program was not broadcast because it was such a fine example of the services being rendered the country in war time by men like Bob Hope.

Uncle Joe Is Smart

By George E. Sokolsky

MAYBE ROOSEVELT and Churchill had an inkling of Stalin's intention to recognize Badoglio, but nothing in the news indicates it. Nor does it make much of a difference. After all, the United States and Great Britain set up Badoglio—in spite of terrific pressures by Leftists who have now again been betrayed by their living patron saint.

The difference is that the United States and Great Britain have been half-hearted. They were willing to work with Badoglio but unwilling to pursue the formalities. They have been playing with the King but not according to the rules of the game. When Joe plays, he follows the rules.

And that's smart. If it is Badoglio with whom we are to do business, we might just as well take him in as a partner.

UNCLE JOE quite clearly makes up his mind without Left Wing advice, assistance or confirmation. He has apparently never listened to those American radio commentators who know precisely how to manage the affairs of Italy as they know exactly how to manage the affairs of all other countries. They stir up anger at the thought that our government might do something that might displease Uncle Joe. Then Joe does exactly what we might have done in the first place and got whatever credit and advantage could come of it. And I—and I hope you—will be watching to see whether these Left Wing commentators will attack Joe Stalin for giving Badoglio the accolade. Apparently only he can never be wrong.

Of course, Stalin does not love Badoglio. Nor does he hate him. He views Badoglio, the King, as everyone else objectively within the perspective of Russia's interest. Love and hate are emotions that can have no place in politics which is, with smart men, a mechanism for the advancement of the interests of a particular government. And with Stalin it is not the world, or mankind or the United Nations or his Allies that matter; it is Soviet Russia, first, last and all the time.

AND SO, by recognizing Badoglio while the United States and Great Britain continue to play "should we or should we not," Stalin arrives on the ground floor with a bouquet of orchids and will be duly and fittingly received. Having fixed his goals in the Baltic countries, having swatted Poland between the eyes, having told Finland where to go, he is now branching out into the Balkans and maybe he and Badoglio will reach a meeting of the minds on how to limit British and American influence in the Mediterranean.

This has now become a war for the balance of power. In that kind of a game, Americans have no experience, but it is one that all European states have been playing for centuries. It has always been British policy that no one European country should dominate the politics of the continent. England has fought Spain, Holland, France, Russia and Germany to prevent any European country from gaining a preponderant strength on the continent. It now looks as though the defeat of Germany will produce not a balance in Europe but a dominance by Soviet Russia. It now looks as though Joe Stalin will succeed where Hitler failed. Great Britain cannot like that. The United States fought the war in vain if that should happen.

But Uncle Joe is smart. He acts quickly and unafraid. His steps are calculated to benefit his country. He moves without consultation in advance. Maybe his next step will be a deal with Franco—and won't the Left Wing commentators in this country have red faces!

Friday, March 17, 1944.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—A deep love nature, not always appreciated. Going through engagement or loving someone without that one knowing it is often the greatest trial period of a Pisces person's life, carrying more worries than hard work or responsibility. You are faithful to a trust, are courageous, but do not always show it because of lack of self-confidence, aggression. Absent-mindedness may become, if not watched, a bad fault. Associate with enterprising (albeit honest) individuals, and endeavors. Don't carry worry to bed with you! Pray and trust in God's will. Birthdate: Rabbi Stephen S. Wise; Edmund Kean, famous English actor.

'CRY HAVOC' OPENS AT STATE

By PEGGY DOYLE

Hollywood's remake of the stage play which briefly bloomed on Broadway as "Proof Thro' the Night" and subsequently had a short-lived resurrection here under the tag, "Cry Havoc," is currently providing assorted case histories of women under fire on Bataan at Loew's State Theater.

"Cry Havoc" was an unrewarding play and "Cry Havoc" . . . Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has retained this title for its movie version . . . is an even less rewarding picture. It misses completely the inspiring quality that gleams through the earlier "So Proudly We Hail."

Dirt, sweat and hysteria are the warp and woof of "Cry Havoc," an unrelenting series of closeups of girls appealingly unfitted for their volunteer nursing jobs and continually verging on hysteria in the close confines of their rabbit-warren dugout.

Margaret Sullivan, presently acquitting herself so brilliantly in the Broadway stage hit, "The Voice of the Turtle," constantly overdoes the stern, malaria-harassed lieutenant of nurses. Neither she nor Joan Blondell, Diana Lewis, Heather Angel, Marsha Hunt, Ella Raines, Frances Gifford, Ann Sothern and other screen glamour-girls, portraying Lieut. Smith's volunteer nurses' aides, are permitted not an iota of glamour in their current impersonations.

Miss Blondell, who described her prewar burlesque occupation as "doing like you do when you peel a banana, only to music," is forthright and real. Miss Sothern, of Maisie memory, gives another sharply etched characterization of a brassy dame with a golden heart. Diana Lewis' southern twit dripping with charm, sticks to the formula. But it is Connie Gilchrist's queen of the dugout cuisine who does the standout job of the entire cast, a honey of a characterization.

In passing, it should be noted that there are no male actors in the lineup.

Martha Raye's Songs, Gown Wows RKO Boston Fans

By DON WARD

"Shut My Mouth" sings Martha Raye at the RKO-Boston.

But that's the last thing the boys and girls wanted. For the gal with the gorgeous gams and stentorian voice comes on stage to a great big hand, and proceeds with ease and éclat to keep everybody happy.

Martha's gold lam-ay gown is a knockout, and so's that cute little chapou— a miniature surrey with the fringe on top if you ever saw one. Martha sings "Choo-Choo, Baby" (who doesn't?) and "Mr. Pagliani."

Hubby Nick Condos and his brother are runners-up with their trick traps, keeping the talent even in the family. The boys have some slick routines.

The "wizard of the strings" is Roy Smek's billing, and he lives up to it nobly, whether he's snapping out a Victory medley, or imitating two banjos playing "Three O'Clock in the Morning"—and in strobolite! (One of those lights-out-change-color things.)

There's lots of fun for you, too with the Three Swifts, who had better not give those clubs back to the Indians. The boys can certainly juggle—and spring some funny gags in between the tossing around.

The three Winters sisters are cute and clever in their butterfly, cartwheels and jump roping. Youth in action, they're known as.

Larry Flint and his "RKOLians" handle the musical assignment turning out a rousing "Anvil Chorus" to open the show.

There's love in their hearts and murder on their minds in "Nine Girls," the screen attraction at the K-B. Ann Harding, Evelyn Keyes, Jinx Falkenburg and Anita Louise are some of the lovelies.

Movie Clock, Boston's guide to screen entertainment, appears on Page 32.

LaMotta Choice to Win Over Welch Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

JAKE LaMOTTA, heavy thumping New York middleweight who has victories to his credit over Fritz Zivic and Ray Robinson, rules a 7 to 5 favorite to win from Patrick Coleman (Coley) Welch of Portland in their ten round bout at a Callahan A. C. show at the Garden tonight.

The betting odds may tighten a bit when the Maine delegation arrives. In the Pine Tree State, the fans feel that Welch's superior boxing ability and success against middleweights will enable him to win from LaMotta. The latter's chief claims to ring fame are his wins over Zivic and Robinson.

Coley Welch

He outweighed each of these men by ten pounds.

It is expected that 12,000 persons will attend tonight's tussle and that the gate receipts will run between $25,000 and $30,000. LaMotta will receive close to $9000 while Welch will pull down about $3000.

Eddie Mack and Jack O'Brien will have occasion to slice a very attractive slice of melon after they pay the Garden rental and other expenses in connection with their big show. The boxing boom that started here when Ralph Zanelli upset Fritz Zivic at the Garden last December in a show for the Disabled Veterans Fund goes merrily forward.

LaMotta and Welch should furnish a stirring bout. LaMotta is primarily an action fighter. He moves forward behind flying fists. He is a wide hooker which will give Welch an opportunity to prove how good he is in throwing straight punches. A boxer who hits straight always has a chance against a swinging type of warrior like LaMotta.

LaMotta comes of Jewish and Italian stock.

"My mother is Jewish, my dad is Italian," Jake told me.

LaMotta, Sr., is here with his fighting son, and will be one of his seconds tonight.

Welch Good Boxer

WELCH is a first class boxer, and has had ample ring experience. He enters his tussle with LaMotta following his winning engagement with Henry Chmielewski. The latter suffered a cut eye against Welch. The Chimmy match enabled Welch to improve in his boxing and increase his speed. He will need both of these assets when he opposes the tireless LaMotta. The latter blazes punches from all angles, and does not let up on an opponent for a single second.

LaMotta is not a pulverizing puncher. He hits hard, but batters his ring rivals up, but he usually doesn't flatten them. This was apparent the night LaMotta outscored Chmielewski here.

Coin Picks LaMotta

Jack Conway's famous Magic Coin today picked Jake LaMotta to win from Coley Welch in their St. Patrick's Night battle at the Garden.

LaMotta also failed to stop either Zivic or Robinson although he handed both of them considerable punishment.

Welch can be pretty rough himself at close quarters. He knows all of the tricks of the game.

Thompson vs. Loman

HOWARD THOMPSON, Saugus heavyweight, will toss punches at Earl Loman of Washington in the eight-round semi-final. Thompson is one of the better prospects among the younger heavyweights. He has plenty of determination and is a fair puncher. Loman won from Thompson in their previous meeting, and the Saugus youngster wishes to even the score.

Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell will collide with Waddell Washington of Worcester in another eight-round go. Six-rounders will find Sam Maltempo of Manchester, Ct., taking on Walter Thomas of New York, and Billy Lancaster of Portland trading blows with Johnny Ryan of Detroit.

Tigers Report First Casualty of '44

Like every baseball player, Fireman Joe Beggs, Cincinnati Red hurler, likes his base hits. Last year Joe's output was five singles in 35 trips, for a not too robust .143. Maybe that's why, out at the Reds' Bloomington, Ind., training camp yesterday, the fireman moaned because it rained.

"This is the one week all year that the pitchers get a chance to hit," Joe complained as he ducked indoors, "and it's got to rain. Next week nothing short of a machine gun will keep out so-called hitters away from the plate."

Pitchers always look good with a bat—during spring training. EVANSVILLE, Ind.—The Detroit Tigers came up with their first training casualty as infielder Joe (J. P.) Wood complained of a sore arm—the same arm with

Braves Work Inside

By BILL GRIMES

WALLINGFORD, Ct., March 17—Boston's baseball campaign of 1944 was officially under way today as Bob Coleman drove his small squad of Braves through their first workout in the spacious Choate School fieldhouse cage here.

The Braves candidates have been drifting in town for two days. Until this morning, Nate Andrews was the only regular pitcher on hand but Jim Tobin, who left Oakland, Cal., last Sunday was due today and Al Javery, who has never reported on time, must be coming down from North Oxford on a dog sled.

The other veterans, who worked out were Phil Masi, Clyde Kluttz, Kirby Farrell, "Whitely" Wietelmann, "Butch" Wieman and Tommy Holmes.

Ben Cardoni, Carl Lindquist and "Buck" Etchison, who were tried out by former Mgr. Casey Stengel last fall are in camp, as is Chet Clemens, Damon Phillips, and Steve Shemo.

There's also a small army of kids here, including Bob Roche, Woburn; Walter Sorgi, Milton; Bill Marshall, Lowell; Carrington Clark and Walter Hipple, Chester, Pa.; Vinc Shupert, Shaker, Ed Smoller and Mike Sabena.

"Chuck" Workman, Mike Sandlock and Ben Geraghty are expected today but nothing has been heard from "Red" Barrett, John Dagenhard, Ira Hutchinson, Stewart Hofferth, Chet Ross, Connie Ryan or Max Macoon.

"We will work out twice daily," declared Manager Bob Coleman this morning, during the first squad meeting. "And, just as soon as the weather is favorable, we'll go outdoors."

"I want to caution you youngsters against tightening up," continued the fatherly Coleman. "True, you are trying for a big league club. It's a wide step. But, don't allow yourself to get nervous. We are not going to judge you on what you show us for the first week or two."

"Anytime that any of you fellows, particularly you rookies, don't understand what I say, and I see what Tom Sheehan and Benny Bengough tell you, ask questions. Don't look upon me as your manager or Tom and Benny as your coaches. We're here to teach you as much baseball as possible in a very short space of time."

N. E. Hoop Title Goal Of Catholic Teams

By MIKE GILLOOLY

A guard on Our Lady's High School five last year at this time, Austin Stokes, now the coach, will be leading the only undefeated team into the New England Catholic Basketball Tournament at the Arena tonight when his classy Newton clan jumps against Cheverus Classical of Portland, Me., in the feature of the opening round of competition.

This tilt, moved up to a starting time set at 8, will be sharing the evening's play with the clash between St. Raphael's of Pawtucket, R. I., and St. Joseph's of Manchester, N. H.

Our Lady's 15 straight victories and the championship of the Catholic League fully testifies to the success of the 19-year-old Stokes in his first—and possibly his last season—at the helm of the squad. He's 1-A in the draft with the possibility of being called to the Armed forces within a month.

In the starting line-up that Coach Stokes will be sending onto the Arena floor, four players will be boys he worked with last season. Only Fran Keegan, taking over for the coach at a guard, will be new. The other four starting positions of the tourney favorites will find Bob Fitzgerald, league leading scorer, at center; Bob Maguire and Bob Doherty, runner-up for scoring honors at forwards and John McHale at the remaining guard berth.

Of the spares with the squad, two, Chris Norton and Robert Bresnahan, also played with Coach Stokes last season. Others who will see action for the Newton quintet include Edmund Nagle, John Paretta and Joe DeGrasso.

Cheverus High, under Coach Dick Whitmore, has won a dozen of 15 starts, listing some top-notch Maine teams among its victims. A fast breaking outfit, Classical will be paced by its clever captain, Jim Sullivan.

Winners of the twin double-headers will collide in the semifinals tomorrow night with the finalists competing Sunday afternoon.

Cleveland Ace Signs

CLEVELAND, O., March 17 (AP)—Al Smith, 35-year-old southpaw ace of the Cleveland Indians mound corps, has accepted terms of his 1944 contract and will report at the Tribe's Lafayette, Ind., training camp tomorrow or Sunday, Vice-Pres. Roger Peckinpaugh announced.

Fred Corcoran Says Stars at War Losing Victory Touch

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 17 (AP)—Ben Hogan was the hardest man to beat in the golf world when he enlisted in the Army but he will never be a great star again, in the opinion of Freddie Corcoran, front man for the Professional Golfers' Ass'n.

"You have to keep playing," Corcoran said. "Hogan, great as he was, will never be able to reach again the peak it takes to play winning tournament golf."

The little Texan, who broke into the limelight in 1940 by winning three tournaments in a row here in North Carolina and then went on to pace the money winners until he quit playing, is now a lieutenant in the air forces.

Corcoran recalled how Bobby Jones never got his tournament touch back after he retired in 1930 while still a young man. "The same thing applies to our golfers in the services now," Corcoran said. "Some of the men are stationed near courses and get to play occasionally. But on most of the fronts there is no chance to play."

"Saw Charley Yates (former U. S. amateur champion from Atlanta) in Italy. He's lieutenant in the Navy and has forgotten what a golf stick feels like."

"Saw Jimmy Hines' boy at the front in Italy. Jimmy playing in a tournament here today" heard from the War Department yesterday that he is missing in action, only 18 years old."

The PGA tournament manager has just returned from his third trip abroad entertaining the troops. He found little interest in golf among the servicemen and not much in football, though he arrived there in November.

"But they went for baseball and boxing. They still wanted to talk about the World Series and they loved the fight movies." He found no resentment among the soldiers about pro sports at home. "They know how selective service works from personal experience. It gets them all, one way or another."

Steve O'Neil Finds Tigers Enthusiastic

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 17 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers worked out for a full two hours on a soggy field and in an intermittent drizzle, ignoring several suggestions from Manager Steve O'Neil that they call it a day and come in out of the wet.

"One thing we aren't short of in this camp is enthusiasm," O'Neil remarked proudly. The club announced the signing of outfielder Charlie Metro, the 20th Tiger to come to terms.

Optimist's "handy" means—
"Here's hoping!"

3-Ring "handy" means...
"BALLANTINE!"

There was no buzz of conversation in cave-man circles. Folks talked not with their tongues, but with their hands. And the habit persists! Sweetheart's "handy" says "Kiss coming up." Chef's "handy" says "Ah, perfect." 3-Ring "handy" says "I'll have Ballantine Ale."

Today, hurry along your glass of "something better" in a moderate beverage the "handy" way. Take one drink for PURITY, another for BODY, a third for FLAVOR—just as Peter Ballantine did in 1840 when he found his famous trade mark in the three moisture rings left by his glass on the table.

Somerville Wins, Faces Holyoke

PROVIDENCE, March 17 (AP)—The undefeated basketball quintet from Waterville High, champion of Maine, whistled into the semi-final round of the 19th New England Championship Tournament, defeating Portsmouth (N.H.) High, 58-38.

Torrington (Ct.) High was upset by Holyoke High, Western Massachusetts titleholder, 45-44. De Lasalle Academy from Newport went into the semi-finals at the expense of Montpelier (Vt.), 40-30 and Somerville (Mass.) High downed New Britain (Ct.), 50-31.

Canucks Beat Hawks, Set New Point Record

MONTREAL, March 17 (INS)—The Montreal Canadiens stretched their record of undefeated games on home ice to 24 when they defeated the Chicago Blackhawks, 3 to 2, before 10,312 fans.

The Canucks also established a new record for points in the league standings, the win shoving their total to 79.

Mexican Champion Plans for 7 Bouts

MEXICO CITY, March 17 (INS)—Juan Zurita, the Mexican campaigner who recently won the National Boxing Ass'n lightweight title, will not be around much any more.

Zurita, who took the NBA title from Sammy Angott, of Washington, Pa., explained yesterday he would sign up for seven more fights, no more.

"After that," said Zurita, "I will retire to become a contractor."

111 in NE Meet At Y Tomorrow

The N. E. 3-A. U. indoor track championships at the Boston Y tomorrow afternoon have drawn 111 entries, among them college athletes from Tufts, Northeastern, Harvard, Boston College and Technology.

With Gil Dodds competing in Chicago, the N. E. mile has drawn its heaviest entry list in year—144 possible starters, headed by Pvt. Ed Gay of Camp Edwards, and Mark Tuttle of Harvard.

Ralph King and Herb McKenley of Boston College probably will battle for the 40-yard dash title. McKenley will be favored to win the N. E. 600 title tomorrow afternoon. He may be upset on the balcony track by Ed Palmeri of Tufts, who to this point has been confining his speed to relay running.

Tech's strong foursome will be a favorite to win the mile relay title. Walter Baptista, Providence schoolboy who has leaped 6 ft. 3 in this season, will be a threat to the N. E. indoor high jumping record.
